Abstract

Reiki Healers frequently use crystals when they heal their patients by channeling universal energy to them through the chakras at the middle of their palms. In order to see what exactly crystals do to the patients' bodies, measurements of the patients with and without the use of crystals were done with our patented sensitive energy meter. It was found that while crystals do not increase the total body energy, they definitely improve the energy balance.

1. Introduction

Ahead of us is the still unexplored world of our subtle interaction with everyone and everything, which is the basis of our interconnected Universe. This subtle interaction is done through the subtle electromagnetic fields, with which the entire material world (alive and not alive) is endowed.

When we generally speak that everything influences us, it doesn't mean everything influences us in the same way – some influences are very weak and negligible (like the influence of limestones on humans, animals and plants), while others are substantial (like the influence of crystals on humans, animals, and plants).

2. Measuring Reiki Healers and Their Patients

Why is the influence of crystals on the body stronger than the influence of limestones? The answer is because crystals contain more energy. Earth tectonic had moved limestones deep into the earth's liquid magma, where they have been heated and melted. When gradually cooling down, they crystalized, but retained some of the energy. They emit this energy when in contact with living beings, that is why their influence on them is stronger.

Since Reiki Healers frequently use crystals to balance the energy of their patients and restore their health, measurements were done with my patented subtle energy meter to the patients of Reiki Healers and the Healers when they don't use crystals and when they use crystals to determine how crystals influence the human health and body.

Our measurements of Reiki Healers and their patients showed that after treatment not only was the patient's energy higher and more balanced, the healer's energy was also higher and more balanced. This proves that when Reiki Healers heal with hands, they do not use their energy to heal – they use a third source of energy called Universal Energy (Rei-ki.= Universal energy).

The Reiki Healers channel universal energy through the central opening of their spinning donut-shaped electromagnetic field (see Fig. 1) [1]. This vertical central channel runs through the backbone and has two funnel shape openings at both ends – on top of the head and at the tailbone (see my book Science Speaks to God) [2].

The Reiki Healers we measured channeled electric energy from the atmosphere through their funnel-shaped energy center on top of their heads, which is open upward. The electric energy stimulates or adds energy to the body, and you can see from the graphics how the energy of the healers' spinning energy center on top of their head (#6) increases after each treatment. The sucked-in electric energy is transferred to the patients through the spinning energy centers (Chakras) in the middle of the healers' palms.

However, while the electric energy of the atmosphere stimulates, the magnetic energy of the Earth sedates. So, when the Reiki Healers need to sedate, they suck earth magnetic energy through their funnel-shaped spinning energy center at the tailbone. This sucked-in magnetic energy, through the spinning energy centers in the middle of the healers' palms is emitted to the patient.

If the Reiki Healers channel energy only through the top of their head, they need to ground themselves regularly (every evening) through sucking magnetic energy through the tailbone to stay balanced. For that reason, the ancient teaching says that Reiki Healers should always balance their energy before doing energy healing. Our measurements show that indeed if the Reiki Healer is not energetically balanced, his imbalance is imprinted on the patients he treats.

3. Measuring How Crystals Influence Our Health

To determine the influence of crystals, we had two sets of measurements. In the first set of measurements normal Reiki healing was done first and then Reiki healing with crystals. In this first set of measurement reflected on Fig. 1* - 3*, you can see from the graphics on Fig. 1' to Fig. 3' that when crystals were used the total energy increase was not substantial, but the energy balance was definitely better in both patients and healers. Crystals really improve both the patients' and healers' balance. After the use of crystals the energy balance of the chakras is closer to a straight line, which means perfect health (Fig. 1* - 3*).

In the second set of measurement Reiki healing with crystals was done first and then normal Reiki healing. The purpose of having this second set was to eliminate the argument that the healing with crystals was better because it was second treatment. Even when Reiki healing with crystals was done first and then normal Reiki healing, one can see from the Fig. 4* to Fig. 7* that both patients and healers had better energy balance when crystals were used, and better energy balance means better health.

After the second Reiki treatment, when crystals were not used, the balance was worse regardless of the fact that it was a second Reiki treatment.

4. Conclusion Explaining How and Why Crystals Improve Our Health

Human beings are living liquid crystals. If crystals were not present in our body, as Saint Georgey said it [3], we would be bouillons because the amount of liquid water in the body is so high. It varies from 95% in fetuses, to 92% in babies, 70% between age 20 and 30, 50% between age 40 and 50, and 30% between ages 70 and 80 [4]. If we are not bouillons, it is because most of this water is in capillaries and it is solid in the form of crystals.

Should we be surprised then that our body is influenced by crystals? The crystals not only contain energy, they contain energy, which our body can assimilate. This wouldn't be the case if the crystals didn't have impurities. The impurities create an energy level close to the top of the forbidden for the electrons zone [5].

This allows a transfer of electrons from the impurity level to the nearby valent zone. The energy of this transfer is in the visible spectrum and our body is sensitive to visible light. The impurities in the crystals are what make the crystals colored (for example, manganese makes the quartz crystals violet in color) and this is what makes the crystals a healing instrument. Different colors of quartz are used to heal different organs and balance our energy, which means they help restore the health [6].
